1. Protection from Insects
2. Good for Health
3. The Right Footwear
4. Watch Your Step
5. Company Is Better

A. Rattlesnakes are very seldom seen. They can feel our vibrations from our walking and then they hide, often behind rocks, logs or in thick brush. If you don't want to get a snake bite, be careful when you walk. Look in front of or behind logs and rocks. Before you sit down or pick up something from the ground, look around the area carefully. Watch where you put your hands and feet. Most importantly, enjoy snakes at a distance and do not disturb them.

B. One of my favorite hobbies is hiking with friends. It's great because you don't need to carry all the things alone. We usually decide who takes what. For example, I carry a compass, a map, a tent, and GPS unit to navigate our position. Kate takes a repellent, sunscreen cream and some medicines. Others bring some food and tools. It's more fun to hike together and it's safer of course.

C. Hiking is a great way to enjoy nature and stay healthy, but it can be dangerous, too. For example, mosquitoes, spiders and other bugs can spoil even the best outdoor holiday. So it's really important to wear long-sleeved shirts and long trousers, and a hat. I also recommend hiking during the morning and early afternoon. Always pack a repellent and spray it on your clothes and open parts of the body.

D. Buying a pair of hiking shoes is a very serious thing. This is not like "they fit okay, they look cool, and I'll take them." Hiking boots should be light and comfortable. They should keep your feet dry, warm, and protected. When you have a good pair of boots on your feet, your hiking experience becomes more exciting and enjoyable. If your feet aren't happy, you can't be happy, either.

An Amazing Journey

It was July and Rob and Ellie were very excited. They had just finished their exams and they were about to go on the holiday of a lifetime. They had decided not to spend their holiday relaxing on a beach or lying by a pool. This year they wanted a real adventure, so they planned to spend two weeks travelling in Morocco. The highlight of the trip was going to be a two-day camel ride in the Sahara Desert. The friends began their trip in Ouarzazate, a beautiful city at the edge of the Sahara Desert. First, the friends visited the city's famous market to pick up some traditional headscarves to protect them from the hot sun. Then, it was time to meet the two local guides and the six large camels, who would take them deep into the desert. At first, the friends found riding the camels terrifying. They were so tall and they were sure they would fall off. But, as they continued their journey, they began to get used to the camel's strange rhythm and they could relax and enjoy the amazing desert landscape. After they had ridden for several hours, the sun began to set. The clouds turned bright orange and red and it looked like the sky was on fire. The guides stopped and began to put up their tents while Ellie and Rob stood looking at the sky in wonder. For dinner later that evening, the guides prepared a traditional Moroccan Tajine. As Ellie and Rob were having this delicious meal, they watched the dark sky fill with bright stars. "I've never seen so many stars in my life," said Ellie, "It's wonderful". Rob, on the other hand, felt a little afraid. The desert was so still and so quiet. The next day, they set off on their camels again. The heat of the desert made the journey exhausting. In the afternoon, they finally arrived in the small town of Tazzarine. Both Rob and Ellie were extremely happy to get off their camels and go to their hotel for a cool shower. As they said goodbye to their guides, Ellie thought that the desert experience had been exciting for one night, but she was happy to be at the hotel. It had certainly been an adventure!
